

July 6th, 2018

Dear Valued Supplier,

I'm pleased to announce that Marvell finalized its acquisition of Cavium today, and that we are now operating as one company. Together, we constitute a global, end-to-end semiconductor solutions company, and hope that our new scope and scale will increase opportunities for valued suppliers such as yourself.

We recognize that mergers can sometimes cause disruptions. However, due to the extensive planning and preparation, we do not anticipate significant interruptions. For now, you can plan on business as usual and should continue to deal with your existing contact(s) within our combined business. As we work through the integration, we will communicate with you early as often as possible about any pending changes.

For more information about the merger overall, see <http://www.marvell.com>. For more specific questions, please speak with your contact or email Joanne Aiello in our procurement organization, at jaiello@marvell.com.

Thank you, in advance, for your understanding and patience during this time of transition. On behalf of the over 5,000 employees in our new company, thanks for your support and spirit of partnership. We look forward to growing together.

Best Regards,

Adrian Benjamin
Chief Procurement Officer